main page
Home
Product
about signup
login
This link takes users to the homepage of the website/ application, providing an overview or introduction to the platform.
Users can access this section to view, add, edit, or delete products available on the platform. It may include features for product management such as categorization, pricing, and inventory tracking.
This link takes users to a page providing information about the organization behind the website/ application. It may include details about the company's history, mission, values, team members, and contact information.
contact
socal
logout
This link directs users to a contact page where they can find information on how to get in touch with support or customer service. This page typically includes a contact form, email addresses, phone numbers, and possibly a physical address.
This link leads users to a page or section containing social media links and icons. It allows users to connect with the website/application on various social media platforms such as Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, LinkedIn, etc.
Clicking on this link logs the user out of their current session. It's commonly used in applications with user authentication systems to provide users with a way to securely log out of their accounts.
supervisor
Home
Overzicht
producten
clienten
suppliers
bestellingen
signup
logoiut
This link takes users to the homepage of the website application, providing an overview or introduction t o the platform.
Users can access this page to get an overview or summary of various metrics, statistics, or reports related to the website/application's performance, sales, or other relevant data.
Users can access this section to view, add, edit, or delete products available on the platform. It may include features for product management such as categorization, pricing, and inventory tracking.
This section provides access to client management functionalities, allowing administrators to view, add, edit, or delete client profiles, orders, and related information.
Navigating to this section allows administrators to manage supplier information, including contact details, product catalogs, and purchasing agreements.
Users can view and manage orders placed by clients or users of the platform. This section may include features for order processing, fulfillment, tracking, and invoicing.
Admins
history
Navigating to this section allows supervisors to manage user accounts, permissions, and other administrative tasks.
This section provides access to historical data, logs, or records of activities, transactions, or changes made within the platform. It may include audit logs, transaction history, or activity tracking features.
contact
socal
logout
This link directs users to a contact page where they can find information on how to get in touch with support or customer service. This page typically includes a contact form, email addresses, phone numbers, and possibly a physical address.
This link leads users to a page or section containing social media links and icons. It allows users to connect with the website/application on various social media platforms such as Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, LinkedIn, etc.
Clicking on this link logs the user out of their current session. It's commonly used in applications with user authentication systems to provide users with a way to securely log out of their accounts.
beheerder
Home
Overzicht
producten
clienten
suppliers
bestellingen
signup
logoiut
This link takes users to the homepage of the website application, providing an overview or introduction t o the platform.
Users can access this page to get an overview or summary of various metrics, statistics, or reports related to the website/application's performance, sales, or other relevant data.
Users can access this section to view, add, edit, or delete products available on the platform. It may include features for product management such as categorization, pricing, and inventory tracking.
This section provides access to client management functionalities, allowing administrators to view, add, edit, or delete client profiles, orders, and related information.
Navigating to this section allows administrators to manage supplier information, including contact details, product catalogs, and purchasing agreements.
Users can view and manage orders placed by clients or users of the platform. This section may include features for order processing, fulfillment, tracking, and invoicing.
history
This section provides access to historical data, logs, or records of activities, transactions, or changes made within the platform. It may include audit logs, transaction history, or activity tracking features.
contact
socal
logout
This link directs users to a contact page where they can find information on how to get in touch with support or customer service. This page typically includes a contact form, email addresses, phone numbers, and possibly a physical address.
This link leads users to a page or section containing social media links and icons. It allows users to connect with the website/application on various social media platforms such as Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, LinkedIn, etc.
Clicking on this link logs the user out of their current session. It's commonly used in applications with user authentication systems to provide users with a way to securely log out of their accounts.
klanten
signup
logout
Home
Product
bestelingen
This link takes users to the homepage of the website application, providing an overview or introduction t o the platform.
Users can access this section to view, add, edit, or delete products available on the platform. It may include features for product management such as categorization, pricing, and inventory tracking.
Users can view and manage orders placed by clients or users of the platform. This section may include features for order processing, fulfillment, tracking, and invoicing.
bestelingen
Users can view and manage orders placed by clients or users of the platform. This section may include features for order processing, fulfillment, tracking, and invoicing.
contact
socal
logout
This link directs users to a contact page where they can find information on how to get in touch with support or customer service. This page typically includes a contact form, email addresses, phone numbers, and possibly a physical address.
This link leads users to a page or section containing social media links and icons. It allows users to connect with the website/application on various social media platforms such as Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, LinkedIn, etc.
Clicking on this link logs the user out of their current session. It's commonly used in applications with user authentication systems to provide users with a way to securely log out of their accounts.